Englebright Would Lift Gold Embargo

Treasury Asked For World Market Price

Since the United States left the gold standard, and after the Presidential Order of April 19, 1933, which prohibits the exportation of gold from the United States, many statements have been made through the Press, and otherwise, that gold as the result thereof would raise in price in the United States to $30.00 or $40.00 per uonce. Such statements have been made through lack of knowledge or understanding of the situation, and do not reflect the facts.

By existing law the selling price of a pure ounce of gold at the United States Mint is $20.67. This is all, under existing law and regulations, that the Mint is permitted to pay for the same, and since the exportation of gold is prohibited, the benefits of foreign currency exchange rates and the selling price of gold on the world market cannot be obtained in the United States.

WORLD PRICE $26

The selling price of gold on the world market, in terms of our currency, at present makes gold worth $26.00 per ounce, but due to the fact that the exportation of gold is prohibited, all that can be received for the same at the United States Mint as long as the embargo is in effect is $20.67 per ounce. Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, it may be recalled, recently announced through the Press that reports that the Administration had decided to raise the price of gold was "without foundation;" and Treasury officials pointed out that an increase in the price of gold would be unfair to those who have patriotically responded in turning in to the Treasury gold coins and gold notes. Secretary Woodin said a free market for gold here is not contemplated.

RISE IN COMMODITIES FEARED

Inasmuch as only $20.67 can be received at the United States Mint for an ounce of gold under existing law and regulations, and due to the present increase and expected further increase in the price of commodities, material and supplies, many of the large gold mining companies fear that within a comparatively short period of time the costs of operations may advance to a point that will greatly restrict their activities, or close their mines.

The effect of the gold embargo on the gold mining industry of this country is most unfair, inasmuch as it prevents the industry from receiving the world market price for its product which at the present time, in terms of our money, is about $26.00 per ounce.

NEGOTIATES WITH TREASURY

Immediately after the order prohibiting the exportation of gold was issued, in anticipation of the serious results it might have on the gold mining industry, I took the subject up in detail with the Treasury Department and requested that the order be so modified as to permit the exportation of newly-mined gold produced in the United States, and am still negotiating with the Department on this problem.

Up to the present time, however, no provision has been made for the gold miner to receive the world market price for his product. He is placed in the disasterous position of having to sell his gold for less than it is worth. No other country off the gold standard has left such an injustice unremedied.

In the Union of South Africa, Canada, Australia, Rhodesia, Mexico, New Zealand and all other gold-producing countries, with the exception of Russia ,now off the gold standard, the gold miner has been allowed a market where gold brings its world price. Justice to the gold miner demands that newly-mined gold be provided with an unrestricted market.

MINING A FACTOR

The gold miner has had no part in forcing the country off the gold standard; in fact his renewed activity during the depression has been one of the favorable factors resisting deflation. In the United States, there is an added reason why one industry may not be singled out to be penalized by expert restrictions. In many other countries there are export duties from which revenue is derived for running the country.

In such countries an embargo on newly-mined gold could be justified as an export duty equivalent to the difference between the domestic Mint price for gold and the real world price. Advantage of this has been taken by no foreign country so far. In the United States, however, no such justification exists, because our Constitution provides, "no tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State." Consequently, the present plight of the gold miner in the United States is the result of regulations that are discriminatory and possibly unconstitutional.

LABOR AFFECTED

The gold mining industry of the United States is an important employer of labor. In many localities the main source of cash income, is wages from the local gold mine. It would be serious of such income were to be cut off in times like these. It is important to maintain and encourage active developments and operations of our gold mines.

This can only be accomplished by keeping the gold mining business profitable; and this can only be done in view of rising costs of operations and under present law, by permitting the gold miner to export his gold, and receive the world price thereon. Many gold mines in the United States are leading a precarious existence, because they operate with such a narrow margin of profit.

GEORGE STARR FINDS ACTIVITY ALL ALONG LODE

Having recently returned from a fifteen hundred mile trip through the northern mining counties of this State, George W. Starr, President of the Mining Association of California and J. C. Kempvanee Jr., Secretary, report that mining activities are not localized, but are in evidence in every mining district between Nevada City and Yreka. Although there is no place where operating mines and new developments are so much in evidence as in Grass Valley and Nevada City, nevertheless th echief topic of interest every town visited was concerned the inspiration and purchase of mining properties and the success of preliminary development. The hotetls are filled with mining men and their lobbies dotted with groups pouring over blueprints.

Due to the passage of the Placer bill, sponsored by James Stewart of Auburn, director of the Mining Association of California ,and signed by Governor Rolph which carried the endorsement of a number of the leading members of the association operating in Nevada City and Grass Valley, the northern counties anticipate a great stimulus to this branch of the industry in those sections.

During this trip, Mr. Starr called on the leading mining men in each section visited and expressed himself as being gratified with the evidence that after years of individual and unorganized effort mining men now realize that their interests are mutual and are eager to pull together to improve operating conditions and further their industry. Leaders in each community visited are now organizing their respective chapters, which will elect two delegates to attend an executive committee meeting to be called at a later date by President Starr. In this way the entire body of California mining men will be represented to determine upon the urgent requirements demanded by the industry in direct accordance with the provision of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

HERE'S CHANCE TO GIVE FOUR SCOUTS A CHANCE

Four members of the Nevada City troop of Boy Scouts, who have taken a very active part in all Scout work, are anxious to go to Camp Pahatsi this year, but they just have not got the money, that is $6 which it costs per week. This was the spot of Richard Parsons, Scoutmaster, at Wednesday night's meeting of the Scout Council ,of which Horace Curnow is president.

Anyone who has a day's work for a boy and will notify Scoutmaster Dick Parsons can help some one o fthese boys realize his desire to get the extra benefit of a week in summer camp in company with experienced Scouts from all over Nevada and Placer counties.

Camp hats are now being sported by a few boys of Troop 6 who have been registered for camp and had their applications approved. The summer camp at Camp Pahatsi is the mecca for all the Scouts of the Tahoe Area and a week at camp "is something" to tese boys.

Judge Raglan Tuttle was asked to represent the Nevada City council on Service Club Day at Camp Pahatsi, July 22, when a dinner will be given for Service Club and other representatives. Judge Tuttle will be among the speakers on that occasion.

It was suggested by President Curnow that the Boy Scouts assist in the work of providing the C. C. C. camps of this county with reading matter and jig saw puzzles and the council approved the suggestions. Residents of this city who have old magazines or jig saw puzzles for which they no longer have any use, are urged to call on the nearest Boy Scout in their neighborhood and he will see to it that these articles are conveyed to the boys in th eC. C. C. camps.

The finance committee made an excelletn report.

HERE'S THE LOW DOWN ON THE SILVER DOLLAR

There are 480 grains in one ounce. A silver dollar weighs 412½ grains, of which 41¼ grains are an alloy of no value, leaving only 371¼ grains of silver in a dollar, or 77 1-3 hundredths of an ounce.

Silver bullion has traveled the submarine route, but the dollar always circulates at par, 100 cents. To get the value of silver in a dollar multiply the market price per ounce by the factor 0.77 1-3. For instance, with the price of silver at 28 cents per ounce, multiplying this price by the factor given, we get 21.65 cents, as the actual value of the silver in a dollar.

To make the value of the silver in a dollar worth 100 cents, the price of silver would have to be $1.29 an ounce. At this price sixteen ounces of silver equals the value of one ounce of gold. This was Bryan's battle cry—"16 to 1." Ration at present is about 74 to 1.

Thomas Reynolds and two sons arrived in Nevada City last Friday for a visit with Mr. Reynold's wife. They left Sunday for Echo Lake where they go to build a summer home for Mr. Cairns of St. Helena.

City Council Agrees Upon Swim Pool Site

The city council, meeting Wednesday evening, virtually agreed upon a site for the municipal swimming pool. It will be on Park avenue with Little Deer running through it, consists of portions of property belonging to Mrs. William Young, James Goedie, A. H. Haddy and Mr. Dunlap, father of Mrs. C. Thomas, who lives on that property.

Options have been secured on two of the four properties involved and the council confidently expects shortly to receive options on the other two. A. H. Haddy donated his part of the proposed site, a strip 40 by 80 feet, for swimming pool purposes.

Between seven and eight acres are to be included in the site, which, it is expected will be developed over a long period into a fine recreation park. City Engineer Ed. C. Uren has been asked to make a survey of the property.

The board also accepted the bid of the Sacramento Pipe Works to supply 2900 feet of steel slip joint pipe, 15 inches in diameter, for $3100. This was the lowest bid and conforms closely to the estimates made by City Engineer Uren. The pipe is to replace the redwood stave pipe which burst when water was turned into the Canada Hill reservoir following the prolonged snow storm last winter. No bids on trench digging were received and the board will take up that matter at its meeting next week.

COUPLE ACCUSED OF DISTURBING PEACE

Business picked up again yesterday at the city hall when John Clepp filed a complaint of disturbing the peace against a man and wife who occupied a neighboring cabin. Chief of Police Robson was called Thursday night to quell a disturbance alleged to have been created by Harry Tucker and Josephine Tucker. Tucker was arrested on a warrant issued by City Judge Coughlin and brought into court. His condition was such that his hearing was continued to Friday morning when he will be brought into court to answer the charge. Mrs. Tucker was not brought to jail yesterday but the warrant may be served on her today.

Chief of Police Robson filed a complaint against William Mendoulet, charging him with parking a car within a pedestrian cross-walk. He was assessed $2 upon his plea of guilty and promised to respect the traffic rules in the future.

MISS WILMA CRASE OF GRASS VALLEY IS DEAD

Miss Wilma Nadine Crase, 19 years old, was borne to rest yesterday afternoon following services in the mortuary establishment of W. R. Jefford and Son of Grass Valley. The Rev. Samuel Tamblyn of Meridian peached the funeral sermon.

Dry Repeal, Riley Tax Plan, Race Bets, Win; Gas Tax Raid, Loses

The people of California made some very definite decisions in the election of last Tuesday. Three out of every four voters expressed their desire to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and placed California in the column against Prohibition, making the eighteenth state to vote repeal, as against none that has upheld it.

Proposition No. 1, the Riley tax plan, carried, but without so large and enthusiastic a majority. It will probably show a two to one vote in the affirmative. The heaviest vote against the measure, as was expected, was in the large cities, while rural sections mustared the greatest strength in favor of it.

Unemployment relief bonds, which enable the state to borrow Federal funds, for relief purposes, carried by better than two to one.

After being defeated for many years, the pari-mutual racing bill was approved with an indicated vote of 7 to 4 in its favor. This will effectively revise the business of breeding fine horses in California according to its proponents, since racing fosters this industry. Opponents of it are extremely doubtful whether this will result. People will attend an occasional horse show. But to see horse races, trotters ,pacers and runners do their stuff on circular tracks after years of travel on smooth highways in motor cars at 45 miles or better, no longer appeals or thrills. Pari-mutual betting, it may be, will attract some of the throngs that once frequented California race tracks, but so far as genuine interest is concerned, according to those who opposed the measure, it will be in the betting and not the horse. In fact, dogs, under an auction system of betting, serve as well.

School tax exemption for private schools lost again. It was especially foredoomed to lose in a period when the tax burden is most oppressive. It has been voted down many times by California's electorate, but may be expected to appear on the ballot in every state general election.

Nos. 9 and 10 on the ballot, providing for gas tax diversion were snowed under with an 8 to 3 vote. When one out of every four persons in California owns or operates a motor car, no other result was to be expected. The measure was unjust to car owners and they were easily able to defeat it. State Finance Director Vandegrift, who fathered the measure, has added to his wide unpopularity.

The county government measure, giving supervisors greater power in the administration of county affairs, without the long drawn-out process of carrying all matters before the state legislature, was carried by approximately a two to one vote.

The measure providing for re-assessment of earthquake damage in Los Angeles, and for making effective certain legislation enacted at the recent session of the legislature, both passed by large majorities.

State Treasurer Hits State Spoils System

SACRAMENTO, June 29—(UP)—Definite limitation of the governor's tenure to the single four year term and abolition of all unnecessary bureaus, commissions and departments is advocated by State Treasurer Charles Johnson as the quickest and best way to remove the "spoils system" from state government.

CHARLES G. JOHNSON,
State Treasurer

Bureaus and departments which are absolutely indispensible should be absorbed by various constitutional offices—that is, elective offices such as controller, treasurer.

Johnson declared the "spoils system" had crept into the state government and brought with it a tremendous and top heavy bureacracy. Each governor, he said, is confronted with the necessity of meeting political debts by appointments.

"Favorites are selected, not for their fitness, but as a reward for their political or financial contribution during the campaign, and the 'spoils system' ruthlessly applied to those who have for four years proven their honesty and efficiency in public office," Johnson said. "They are removed and replaced by political favorites."

The treasurer said limitation of the governor's tenure would prevent that executive from devoting considerable part of his time to the building up of a political machine by appointments. Besides, he observed, Califonia isn't in the habit of reelecting governors. Only once in the state's history has a chief executive been reelected, Hiram Johnson.

"During the last 20 years, constitutional government has suffered from diversion of its power to bureaus," Johnson said. "For a period it was thought all functions of constitutional government would be delegated to bureaus through the power of administrative influence.

"The public should look well to their interest to prevent further exploitation of the constitutional offices by the plenary direction of the governor for the benefit of his political favorites.

"The trend of public opinion definitely indicates a determination to prevent extravagance and waste in government. It is high time that politicians realize it is time to give taxpayers a new and clean deal in state government."

WHAT ONE BANKER THINKS OF GOLD MINING

The president of a large national bank in Chicago was under criticism by several banks because of his investment in a gold and copper mine, says the Mountain States Mineral Age. He made the following reply:

"Throughout the Rocky Mountains ages ago God Almighty built stronger vaults in His granite banks than we have in ours. He filled his banks with gold, silver and copper; He gave the prospector knowledge and insight and guided him on his way to the door of the vaults He had built. The federal government handed him a title to all herein. It is not a crime to enter, but a virtue. With drill, pick, spade and blast, the prospectors have broken the combination locks and entered. But for Him, our notes and issues would be as the 'slump tailed' currency of 1857. But for Him this government of ours would be bankrupt.

"A mine contains a crop already raised, harvested and on deposit for you to check against at your pleasure. The wealth gathered from the mines immortalized King Solomon. Mines made Great Britain the world's commercial dictator. Mining has made the United States the richest country in the world. Show me a country without mines, and I will show you a people sunk in poverty and degradation, making cowards of individuals.

"Mining has transformed more poor men into millionaires and raised them to positions of honor and trust than any other business. Mining has scored less than 60 per cent of the failures against 95 per cent of failures of the general merchandise business of the United States."—Western Mineral Survey.

NUGGETS EXHIBITED FROM MIDDLE YUBA

Mrs. Elsie Prentiss and Mrs. Loraine Paselk were in Nevada City last week exhibiting two small bottles of nuggets that they had panned on the Middle Fork of the Yuba by Stawberry Bar. Assisted by their husbands the two women report that they have panned anywhere from $1.50 to $2.00 a day for the past several weeks.

The Ladies Aid Society gave their annual picnic at the Day's Ranch, Gold Flat, on Wednesday, for the members and their children. Everyone had a grand time swimming and playing games. Fine things to eat capped the most successful affair.

WEEKLY COMMENT

By CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

COPENHAGEN DENMARK.—I have been here now for about two weeks and although this is a nice country I wish I was coming down the gangplank in New York. Of course, I. fully expected to be feted while here but they turned loose all of their entertainment geinus until I am worn out with parties, dinners, lunceons, etc.

King Kristian the X invited me to tea the other afternoon in the royal palace ,this was a very informal affair and I met a lot of the Danish Bigwigs. Kris made me feel very much at home and after a few little drinks of the justly famous danish BRAENDEVIN we were most chumy and seeing that we were both named Kristian in Danish we just dropped the formalities. From then on it was Kris this and Kris that. But all things must come to an end, of course I am not in Denmark at all but just wanted to see how it would look to have a foreign headline to this column.

Some time ago when I leased a large piece of placer ground from the Perigo Mines southwest of Boulder Colorado, I had with me as a partner a young mining engineer whose fictitious name was Fred Messingale.

Fred was always studying maps of which he seemed to have a tremoundous lot. I asked him one time why he was so interested in maps. He opened up a bit and as he went along he unravelled one of the strangest tales of adventure to which I have ever listened. He helped to survey the proposed railroad from Bluefields to Colon across Nicaraugua and diagonally southward toward the point of destination. After that he went down below the Amazon on the high plains where he met some very wealthy cattlemen who were fomenting a revolution, he fell in love with a daughter of one of the men and was to have married her the following spring. Before the nuptials could be celebrated the government found out about the pending revolution and sent troops into the country to quell it. In trying to escape the girl was killed but Messingale escaped to the coast and to Porto Rico thence to the United States. Later he came west to Coloado, and for four years studied at Colorado School of Mines. It was soon after his graduation that I met him and we formed the partnership. Our venture turned out badly and we parted. Messingale went to work for the Southern Pacific surveying the line which runs to Mexico City. He was stationed at Tepic and while there fell in love with a senorita. This charmer failed to tell Fred that she had another sweetheart. When the showdown came, Messingale had to kill the Mexican with his hunting knife and thereafter take to the hills to escape the wrath of relatives. He finally got back to the U. S. and the last time I heard from him he was working in Missouri.

Now of course all mining engineers are not like that and perhaps that is what makes such stories interesting .

BEDROCK TUNNEL FOR CYCLONE GRAVEL MINE

P. C. Peterson and son, Elmer, are at work on a gravel property north of Nevada City known as the Cyclone mine. There is a 700 foot tunnel on the property and at present they are driving a 250 foot bedrock tunnel. Two weeks ago they installed a compressor and some mining machinery.

Allen B. Clark and others of Los Angeles have a lease on the property. There are four men employed.

RECORDERS SEAL SUFFICIENT

Walter W. Bradley, state mineralogist, issues a warning that a question as been raised as to the necessity of acknowledgeing the "notice of desire", to hold a mining claim during the assessment year 1931-33 pursuant to the recent act of Congress.

Mrs. Tucker assistant to County Recorder Sam Clark states that the county recorder's seal is sufficient to take care of all filings of mining claims.

THREE ENGINEERS TO BE HONORED BY MINING ASSN.

The Sacrament chapter, Mining Association of California, is preparing for a commemoration dinner to honor three famous California mining engineers, John Hays Hammond, Charles Butters and George W. Starr who pioneered in deep gold mining in South Africa years ago.

Plahs are to hold this dinner on Mining Day, Friday, September 8 at the State Fair with the three men present to enjoy the occasion.

George Starr, who was for years manager of the world famous Empire mine of Grass Valley, is state president of the Mining Association. Mr. Hammond is in New York, while Butters, who made and lost millions in Nevada mines, resides in Berkeley.

Boers in South Africa captured Butters and Hammond and Cecil Rhodes paid $125,000 each for their release. Starr was nearly taken prisoner at the same time.

GLOBE TROTTER TALKS AT CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTONVILLE, June 27.—Oscar O. Klott, better known as the Globe Trotter, gave a talk Monday morning before the Camptonville branch of the Marysville Union high school of his adventures and travels during the past few years, which proved very interesting and instructive to the students.

Klott is a native of Sheboykan, Wisconsin, a veteran, and a very patriotic citizen. In his knap sack he keeps an American flag which he started from home with and has carried through every state in the union. He left home in March 1923, with $30.00 in his pocket, traveled 10,000 miles, returning in September of the same year with $5.00. He travels practically without funds, making his living as he goes. He carries a horse shoe which he found in the state of Maryland, and also a mule or burrow shoe which he was given here last year, and which he has carried from California to Florida and back again. He also carried a large tanned rattlesnake skin which he obtained in North Dakota. On this trip to California, he came from Wisconsin to California, 2300 miles in 10 days; being very fortunate in hitching. He is the guest of Forest Ranger Frank W. Meggers, an old schoolmate. He gave a similar talk to the Camptonville grammar school Tuesday.

Judge and Mrs. George L. Jones have returned from the bay region. Their daughter Nancy, has just completed another year at Stanford University.

C. C. C. CAMPS CUT MENACE OF FOREST FIRES

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY

SACRAMENTO, June 26—(UP)—California's loss from forest and brush fires will be far lower than preceding years of the last decade, if the confident predictions of M. B. Pratt, state forester, and his cohorts are fulfilled.

Nevada county expended $1,903.-61 last year on forest and fire protection. This figure, of course, does not include municipal fire protection or the amount the state expended on its own initiative .

Establishment of 22 civilian conservation camps throughout the state is a splendid "break" for California's timber resources. For these concentrations of men are ideal sources of manpower for fire fighting.

In each camp, the state division of forestry has assigned a trained fire fighter. If the need arises, this man will promptly conscript a crew and rush to the fire scene.

Forest fire loss, including damage inside national forest boundaries, totaled $821,565 last year as compared to $2,885,828 the preceding year. The state spent $90,000 in fire fighting but expects to get by on $75,000 for the year beginning July 1.

In addition to the C. C. C. camps, there will be 150 full tim emen established in strategic spots throughout the state. These fire suppression crews will be equipped to move swiftly from one sector to another.

To date, it has been splendid weather insofar as fire hazards are concerned, Pratt said. But the critical period would be from August 15 to September 15. Largest fire this year, so far, was in the foothills in Mariposa county. It covered 2,000 acres but was confined mostly to brush.

Still another "break" for California timber was the establishment state labor camps. These camps constructed fire trails and roads in dangerous sectors, thus facilitating access to fire sectors.

"There will be no transients hired to man fire fighting crews this year," Pratt announced. "If the C. C. C. camps and our own fire suppression crews cannot handle any given situation, we will hire people from this district where the fire is located—people that we know and can trust."

HIGHWAY STRIPE WILL COST $40 A MILE

SACRAMENTO, June 29—(UP)—As a part of the campaign to make California highways more safe the state last year spent $163,000 in painting stripes, according to a report of the division of highways.

A total of more than 3,500 miles of traffic stripe was placed on state highways during the year .

The stripe costs approximately $40 a mile. Fifteen gallons of traffic lacquer was used per mile of 4-inch stripe, representing about three-quarters of the expense, officials said.

Tests conducted by the highway laboratory were responsible for the development of a lacquer which meets the heavy requirements of highway traffic.

GOVERNOR TO GIVE CHILDREN A PARTY

SACRAMENTO, June 29—(UP)—Fourth of July this year is going to see Governor Rolph right back on the lawn of his home in San Francisco staging an elaborate display of fireworks for the neighborood children.

For 30 years Rolph has celebrated the Fourth in this fashion and he intends to continue doing so as long as he is able.

Preceding the San Francisco celebration, the governor will dedicate the new highway bridge over the Tuolume river at Modesto Fourth of July morning.

MY CABIN IN THE MOUNTAINS

A long winding trail rocky and step,
Thru the wild brush and tall pines;
You come to a Cabin that lies in a valley deep,
It is so very still, one thinks all must be asleep.

You can see the Sun-rise at early dawn,
The singing of birds, and chattering of squirrel's gay,
Very soon the shadows are all gone;
And we have the brightness of a perfect day.

The air is light, clean and pure;
The LOVE of GOD will work a cure,
By keeping your tho'ts above the strife;
And instead: behold the good in life.

A cool drink from the spring is best,
From an old tin hanging near,
To a tired wanderer, who happens to appear;
My Cabin offers him Peace and Rest.

By Bertha Joy Dellear.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davidson came down from their mine on the Yuba river near Moore's Flat and spent the week end in Nevada City.

developments is necessarily limited, but fear of higher costs of operations, without a compensatory increase in the return for the sale of their gold, I am advised, will force many companies to mine out such ore as is already developed, without further extending their exploration activities. Here in the United States, where the maintenance of gold production, to say nothing of its increase, must be made possible chiefy by the discovery of new orebodies underground, it is essential that existing mines, continue exploration.

A new country with vast unexplored regions can expect to maintain gold production by developing and exploiting new surface discoveries, but in the United States, where most of the gold production comes form mining camps established before the 20th century, it is imperative that producing gold mines be kept profitable so that additional ore reserves can be developed by the extension of their underground workings.

COSTS OF PRODUCTION

Statistics of costs of gold mining operations in the United States sow and based upon the present production of about $50,000,000 annually, that an increase of from 6 to 10 percent in the cost of operations will reduce gold production by about $30,000,000 annually, or 60 per cent.

During the World War, when the average price of wage level and supplies more than doubled, the American gold miner received no subsidy. Inasmuch as no advantage in selling price per ounce at that time could be gained by exporting newly-mined gold ,the American gold production was reduced from 4,287,604 fine ounces in 1915 to 2,476,166 ounces in 1920.

The output of our gold mining industry was halved during that five-year period which was probably the most profitable period in the history of the United States in all other lines of industry. From this crushing blow the gold mining industry during the past year has just started to make a recovery, its output in 1932 being 2,507,587 fine ounces. Last year, in spite of important developmetns in the Philippine gold mines. the United States, as a gold producer, was forced from second to third place by Canada.

WORLD PRICE NEEDED

If the gold miners of this country are permitted to export their newly-mined gold and receive the world market price thereon the growth of the industry will be rapid and it undoubtedly will experience the greatest prosperity in its history. This will add greatly to alleviating unemployment and to the rapid rehabilitation of the nation.

In order to endeavor to obtain for the gold miner the right to export his newly-mined gold and to receive the prosperity that is justly due him, I am staying over here in Washington to continue my negotiations with the Treasury Department to attain that end.

SEVEN NEW TRUCKS FOR C. C. C. CAMPS ARRIVE

The Miller ranch camp is also neary complete. At the state C .C. C. camp on the highway just south of Nevada City, there are 224 men enrolled, and camp organization is practically complete. GALLANT ROBIN HOOD AND MERRY RETINUE GUESTS AT LAKE VERA

The Piedmont Camp at Lake Vera last Tuesday, invited the Camp Celio and Sacramento girls to a most festive Robin Fair. About 500 people were called to its ticket office by an acordian calling, "Heigh Ho! Come to the Fair," and barkers. Then to the many booths, some of which were the Blue Boy Inn, Lee Bakery and the Tuck Shoppe over the "Gypsies" of Camp Celio in orange and black plus bright bandanas and the Piedmont girls as Robin Hood followers in their "Greenies." fruit, ale and pop corn were some of the goodies sold at the lively fair.

At 2:30 P. M. everyone went down a winding trail to "The Glen" thru which flows a brooklet, and which made an ideal Sherwood Forest. The play started with Robin Hood and his followers suddenly filling the glen, shouting, "Ah! Robin Hood!" Soon the encounter with Little John took place and Robin Hood fell over the bridge. Later Robin Hood's sylvan mistress, Maid Marian came in as a beautiful red-headed girl—flowing white. In their place in the beloved tradition and story entered huge Frian Tuck and the Bishop crying for mercy. Scene II was in the King's Court and many characters were in the long procession of the King in regal red and purple and the Queen in lavender, the lords and ladies, pages and court jesters all in striking costumes. It was a colorfu pageant, well acted and the neighboring camp girls and spectators from Nevada City went away sounding its praises.

The following were some of the characters.

Robin Hood .....Patricia Wachot
Maid Marian .....Betty Conlist
Will Scarlet .....Mary Finlayson
Ellen Adale .....Phylis Goemmer
Friar Tuck .....M. Hanlin
Bishop .....Janice Goldtree
Joker .....Jane Sullivan
Flute Player .....Betty Cullen

Some of the Nevada City visitors were: Mayor R. J. Bennetts, Mrs. Bennetts and niece; Mrs. Edward Uren, Mrs. Charles Leiter, Mrs. B. Douglas, Mrs. Charles Parsons, Mr. O. S. Woodman, Mrs. D. E. Bleakley, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, representatives of the Sacramento Bee, Grass Valley Union and the Nevada City Nugget. The visitors were courteously shown the places of interest by the councilors of the camp. Such places as th enew infirmary, outdoor dining room, interesting totem pole, and curious museum whose king, water and gopher snake are all going by buss to their respective homes in the Bay section, tell of the gay lives of the girls.

Mrs. E. M. Rector Gives Reception For Bishop

Mrs. E. M. Rector gave a most delgihtful reception for Bishop Porter of the Sacramento Episcopal Diocese yesterday afternoon. Following delicious refreshments, daintily served by the Misses Rector, Bettles and Sawyer to 100 people in the spacious rooms, Bishop Porter gave an interesting and friendly talk. He said he saw that he was not being received as the Bishop visiting an asylum where one man cried out, "Sit down, you idiot." The superintendent of the institution, greatly perturbed, whispered, "Hush, that's the first sensible thing you have said." Bishop Porter pointed out that he was on a pilgrimage through the entire diocese to create a friendly feeling, arouse cooperation, and maintain a high morale throughout the district. One lady remarked she had been terribly naughty, only attending church once for the year. "Well," said the Bishop, "won't you come on Chistmas as well as Easter, that will make twice.

"We are following in the army of a captain," he concluded. Then a splendid program was given, Miss Margaret Rector and Miss Ruth Rector, playing piano compositions; and Mrs. Lyda Talbot and Mrs. Libby, accompanied by Mr. Marshall Giselman, singing beautiful solos.

RUNNING SEVEN YEARS

Seven years ago, in 1926, a standard Norge Rollator Refrigerating unit was started running on a Marathon test in a room in the Norge actory. That mechanism has run constantly ever sence except for one 24 hour period each year, when is is torn own, examined and reassembled.

These yearly examinations are made with micrometer gauges and up to the present time there has been no measurable wear on any part of the tireless Marathon unit.

This constant operation is far more punishing than actual domestic use in any climate or under any normal conditions. It operates continuously —day and night— at full speed. It never stops. To date 1,800,000,000 revolution have been made. The continuous operation of the Rollator is equivalent to nearly a quarter of a century of domestic use.

This unfailtering test means that the Norge you buy today will be an investment in convenience and health . . . for many long yeas of trouble-free and economical use.

By all means see the new Norge at Snyder's Radio-Electric Shop, 122 Mill Street, Grass Valley, before you buy. It costs no more to own and less to operate.
